EMPLOYMENT CHRONOLOGY

Cultural Architect (Counselor, Informationist, Futurist)
Present

1998-

- Futurist- a person whose occupation or specialty is the forecasting of future events, conditions, or developments.
- Informationist- one who gathers, analyzes, interprets and uses information.
- Counselor- a person trained to give guidance on personal, social, or psychological problems. Or a person who gives advice on a specified subject.
- Specializes in providing clients with alternative viewpoints on hard to solve problems and issues, such as 'black' files for attorneys or assisting law enforcement with unsolved cold cases.
- Assists businesses and private clients in expanding or launching business projects. One small business client doubled gross revenues, increased net worth, and completed 40% more projects during his first year of assistance.
- Provides corporate training and seminars to enhance personal and professional growth. He is a distinguished lecturer for the National Center for Crisis Management.
- Author of more than 500 articles and research papers in peer-reviewed medical journals and consumer magazines and over a dozen books.

Prehospital Emergency Medicine

1993-2005

- Functioned as an administrative officer for a non-profit rescue squad for over 10 years. Organized and orchestrated their revitalization efforts and increased annual call volume by 600% while assisting with the recruitment and training of all new members. Implemented an aggressive change in medical protocols to allow providers to perform state of the art treatments in the prehospital setting.
- As a founding member of the Department of Homeland Security and a Federal Disaster Medical Assistance Team, provided logistics and support to disaster and mass gathering events in conjunction with the Secret Service and other agencies. Past missions included Hurricanes Katrina and Rita in Louisiana and the G-8 Summit in Georgia.
- Worked as a paramedic with various government and private ambulance services and as a Combat Medic with the United States Army.

Bio

Dr. David Powers is a Cultural Architect, combining the worlds of futurist, informationist, and counselor into one. Considered a human puzzlemaster, he has a penchant for assembling random bits and bytes into workable solutions. He's a best-selling author in the areas of cognitive psychology, experimental education theory, and martial arts. He's a decorated veteran of the Marine Corps, Army, and a founding member of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. As a professional model and actor he has appeared in film, fashion shows, and even comic books. Married and the proud father of three feral boys and one princess that he and his wife homeschool, his mission in life is to find the magical best mug of coffee in the world.
