

Dr. Lindsay McCrady

Dr. Lindsay McCrady has over 16 years of experience in her field and graduated Cum Laude from the University of Arizona with a BS in Veterinary Medicine and minor in Chemistry. She then graduated in the top of her class receiving her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine Degree from Colorado State University in 2009. She went on to advance her training and completed a Small Animal Medicine and Surgery rotating internship prior to going out into practice. Once out in practice her adrenaline junkie personality lead her to develop a passion for emergency medicine. There is not a toxicity, poly-trauma, endocrine crisis or surgical emergency that she shys away from. Her passion for learning and staying abreast of current medicine techniques led her to become the intern director for a well-established internship program where she produces top quality graduates every year that become invaluable to the veterinary community. Her position as an emergency veterinarian at a progressive 24/7 emergency clinic has allowed her to understand the physiologic, biochemical and physical changes the body undergoes during traumatic situations. This has allowed her to help contribute her knowledge of canine anatomy and appropriate care into the moulage techniques.

Professional Affiliations/Memberships

International Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Society

Primary Care Veterinarian for canines at the Tucson Police Department, University Medical Center Security, and Border Patrol

American Heartworm Society

Intern Director at VCA Valley Animal Hospital and Emergency Center, 2014 to present

Assistant Medical Director at VCA Valley Animal Hospital and Emergency Center, 2015 to present

Continuing Education

IVECCS Conference yearly (40+ CE hours per conference)

Advanced training certificate at NAVC Institute for abdominal ultrasound

Advanced training certificate in echocardiograph by the SOUND institute

Gulf Atlantic Veterinary Conference 2017

Doctor Communications Workshop VCA