

Author's Biography:

Moulage Concepts Inc. CEO and Founder Bobbie Merica, has been the leader in medical moulage since 2009. Upon discovering the absence of moulage specific to a clinical/hospital setting, she developed and pioneered the first of a series of 3D moulage wounds and training workshop specific to training outcomes in clinical, veteran, police, fire, industrial, veterinary and pre-hospital simulation communities. Her credentials include:

Author:

Medical Moulage: How to Make Your Simulations Come Alive, FA Davis 2011

Contributing Author:

- EMSWorld magazine, "Wound of the Month" Trauma Moulage specialized to the pre-hospital communities
- SimTalk Blog: Discussions in healthcare education from Pocket Nurse
- "Bridging the Gap in Simulation – A Collaboration of Experts" a free Medical Moulage Tutorial Blog
- CPR Certification HQ Expert Columnist
- Carolina Fire Rescue Journal
- Healthy Simulation

2018 Innovation Winner for MasterCast Series Pediatric Training Wounds

2015 Innovation Winner for Active Shooter Multi Agency Response Kit

Homeland Security Exercise Evaluation Program (HSEEP)

Simulation Technician Job Description & Curriculum Consultant Committee DACUM Member –A State and Federally recognized job description for the California Health Workforce Initiative agency tasked with developing and supporting California's higher education institutions with healthcare-related content including new career markets for education, course curriculum, and staffing resources.

Medical Trauma Moulage Expert (SME)

Simulation Coordinator, Technologist & Consultant.

She is currently working on her newest works including Veterinary Moulage and TECC based works.

Bobbie began her career in simulation as a Medical Technologist in 2004 before moving into a Simulation Coordinator/Consultant position in 2007. This unique perspective has allowed her the opportunity to fully understand the complexities of creating authentic training scenarios specialized to the simulation community.